AngularJS: ng-click event gets bound only once I have a div with some images inside, and I have added some javascript that gets invoked when an image is clicked. It is wrapped inside a directive with isolated scope. Here is the link to plunker The following javascript runs when the image is clicked: `$scope.addImage = function() { $scope.images.push(""); }` In the HTML, I have set ng-click to the div, so the javascript gets run each time the image is clicked. `{{item}}` When the first image is clicked, it works fine. However, when the second image
