"I gave you those M.T.P.s, gave you that information." "When this war started, I didn't know who the enemy was." "I didn't know if the M.T.P.s were from the other side or not." "Now that I do know, you tell me that I've been a party to the killing of innocent people?" "How is it that you talk of innocence?" "Your hands." "The hot red hands." "You've seen them." "It's all right." "It doesn't mean anything." "You don't understand." "I'm a renegade." "A traitor to everything I've ever believed in." "If they find me here, it will mean that I don't care." "I'm a damned fool anyway." "No, sir." "No, sir." "You have to find some way of fixing this." "It's right." "It's gotta be right." "I mean, either I'm the greatest butcher of all time and I don't give a damn, or else I'm a fool to be still alive." "But that's it, Leslie." "Just when you're down to the last possible choice, there's always another choice." "When you were at the barbershop that day, you said a "damned fool" to everybody." "I was trying to make a speech to the men." "I was telling them that if there's anything to be done about it, that they would have to do it themselves, and that I didn't have the nerve to do it." "But I was a fool, a damned fool to say it." "What I want to know is, what is it you propose to do now?" "Well, I got some pills." "Pills?" "What are pills?" "Well, that's a darn funny fellow." "Lamebrain pills?" "We'll take them, ma'am." "Let him alone." "He'll go and come as he pleases." "I want to know what it is." "I'll tell you what it is." "It's too late." "It's too late." "Come on." "Come on

The Department of Health (DH) has launched the Community Health Inspections to check quality of service and to inform the public on the outcomes, according to a statement issued by the former Minister of Health Dr. Arthur T. Supa on Friday, December 22. The Community Health Inspections forms part of the DH's efforts to make government more responsive, accountable and available to all Jamaicans, and to enhance the public's faith in the delivery of quality health services, it said. The inspections will take place at healthcare facilities and other healthcare facilities "wherever the Department reasonably believes there may be a problem with the quality of care, services or standards," it said. The statement also emphasised that for "quality of care, healthcare facilities must be registered and accredited with the Jamaica Accreditation Group (JAG), the Care Quality Commission, Quality and Safety Jamaica (QSJ), and the National Accreditation Authority, and the DH has initiated a process to register and accredit relevant healthcare facilities," the statement noted.

Also, "in light of the increasing number of public complaints, the DH will also be alerting all healthcare facilities where complaints have been made to them concerning their standards of care, and ensuring that they receive timely and appropriate attention," the statement added. Patient safety is the foundation of quality healthcare, and the DH is committed to ensuring that Jamaicans receive safe and quality healthcare services, it added. The statement also encouraged Jamaicans to avail themselves of the services of accredited facilities, to seek medical attention and treatment at accredited facilities, and to report any suspected lapses in care by healthcare facilities to the DH. The Community Health Inspections form part of the DH's renewed effort to ensure the healthcare of all Jamaicans, and to provide better quality and more effective health services to all Jamaicans, it said. Cooke and Maxwell have always been held in high esteem by the people, Dr. Power said. "They were both very important people, very well known personalities of Kingston," he told reporters yesterday at the Jamaica Economic Management Summit. Dr. Power said Cooke suffered "a massive heart attack" while on a plane in 2001, and that he was "assessed and released" after treatment. Dr. Power said of Maxie: "Sadly, he died in his sleep." Cooke died at around 5 a.m. on September 9, 2001, while Maxie 6d1f23a050
