We examined the presence of receptors for insulin-like growth factor (IGF)-I on parathyroid (PT) cells. IGF-I mRNA was detected by Northern analysis in PT tissue from rats, cats, dogs, and humans, but not in thyroid tissues. In addition, Western blot analysis showed that IGF-I could be detected in human parathyroid extracts. Furthermore, using immunohistochemical methods, it was demonstrated that PT cells expressed IGF-I, which was localized in both the cytoplasm and on the cell membrane. The results of this study suggest
